"Society" in London

"Society" in London is a little "off" if the newspaper accounts can be credited. We read :

The Earl of Poulett, presumptive father of the organ-grinding Viscount Hinton, is about to make one more effort to prove that the presumption is wrong.

Miss Wiedemann, a German governess, sues the Hon. Robert Walpole, beir to the earldom of Oxford, for breach of promise and seduction

Bradley Martin continues to advertise in the London newspapers that he will not be responsible for debts contracted by his son, Sherman, who recently married outside the bounds of conventionality.

There is more trouble ahead for Dion Boucicault. The registrar in the local Mrs. Boucicault's divorce sult has fixed the amount of her husband's income as an actor and playwright at between $40 000 and $45,-000 per year, and has awarded her $150 per month

Capt. Henry Arthur Mornington of the Duke of Edinburgh's regiment, who is Vis-count Dangen and son of the Earl of Cow ley, has just paid $7 590 to Phylis Brough ton, who is playing a minor part in "Paul Jones" at the Prince of Wales Theatre. As a result of youthful susceptibility, when the Viscount was a stripling under age he fell in love with the sprightly Phyllis and wooed her ardently for a year. She finally accepted him after refusing him several times, and then he fell in love with another girl and married her.

Minnie Palmerston, the pretty music ball singer and variety actress, ten years ago married, and since then she has had two other husbands. Each was ignorant of the existence of the other two until early this year, when love's young dream was disturbed by the discovery by number 2 of the existence of number 3. Explanations followed and two decrees his were granted. Lawyer Bardesley, the first and only legal husband, having given evidence to prove the bigamies, was solemly informed by the Judge that Minnie belonged entirely to bim, and he promptly showed his apprecia-tion of her value by filing his own petition for divorce.

PRINCE MURAT.—The story is now going the rounds that Prince Murat did not lose as much as people supposed when he broke his engagement with Miss Caldwell. It seems, according to a Chicago story, that Miss Caldwell's "millions" are not millions at all, but very moderate thousands. It is vouched for that she has not more than $350,000 in her own right, making the estimate at the most extreme figure Invested in real estate this brings her an income from husiness. We bought the entire stock, valed in real estate this brings her an income | from of $20,000. So when she was ready to settle $10,000 a year upon the prince she was really balfing her income instead of throwing a sop to Cerberus, as was intimated. The half million that was her share of her father's fortune was greatly reduced by her magnifi-cent gift to the Catholic University. And now it seem that, after all, the gift was not voluntary on the part of Miss Gwendoline, but was made in accordance with the command of her father. Prince Murat is described by a Washington belle who knew him well in Paris as one of the most perfect gentlemen in Europe, and a man who ought to make any girl eager to settle her entire fortune upon him if necessary to capture his heart. The prince is not a foreigner by birth as many suppose, but was born in this country, in Bordentown, N. J., where his father fell in love with one of the prettiest girls in the State, married her and lived

MEDICINAL.

A VETERAN.

I was wounded in the leg at the battle of Stone River, Dec. 31st, 1862. My blood was poisoned from the effects of the wound, and the leg swelled to double its natural size, and remained so for many years. The poison extended to my whole system, and I suffered a thousand deaths. Nothing did me any good until I took Swift's Specific, which took the poison out of my system, and enabled me to feel myself a man aminin. S. S. is the remedy for blood poison.
